

That's right!

It's a Freaky Friday Science Fair....

....and we're calling out all Scientists; mad ones, favorite ones, and cat ones too! On Friday, May 13, students and teachers are invited to dress like a Scientist!

You don't have a lab coat? Not all scientists do. You can dress up like a Marine Biologist with a snorkel and carry an ocean stuffed animal, or be an Archeologist, like the scientists in Jurassic Park and wear some khakis and a hat. You can dress up like a favorite scientist like Jane Goodall, wear binoculars, and carry a chimpanzee stuffed animal or if you have a Victorian dress you can dress up like Ada Lovelace, the first computer scientist. If you want to be Isaac Newton, you could wear a long gray wig and carry an apple or everyone's favorite Einstein and tease your hair! Have fun and be creative!
